A Community-Developed Dictionary of VA Application Types

The VA Common Application Enumeration (CAE) provides a unified set of descriptions that can be selected from to categorize VA software applications. Descriptions can be used to facilitate identifying and prioritizing applications (and associated Security Technical / Testing requirements), by type and business line, in use at VA. The CAE is developed and maintained by the VA Software Assurance Program Office together with other agency inputs.

- CAE application types are based on the categories developed by the VA Software Assurance Program Office.
- CAE lines of business descriptions are based on the VA Functional Organization Manual and other agency inputs.
- CAE system attributes span other application attributes relevant to registration
