

Where can I find Fortify documentation

This page has been made public for vendors

Question

Where can I find documentation on Fortify and what documentation is available?

Answer

The Fortify documentation comes in the Fortify download package. To get to the documentation:

- Download Fortify as described in the technical note: How to download the VA-Licensed HPE Fortify software
- Unzip the downloaded file
- In the unpacked directory, the documentation is in the Docs directory

The exception to this is for releases that are called "patch" releases and have alternative download instructions. The patch releases may not contain the documentation. When that is the case, please use the instructions above to download the most recent version available on the download site to obtain the current documentation.

All aspects of Fortify are documented, however the following are most likely to be useful for VA developers:
